said plurality of permanent magnets are arranged around a shaft of said motor and;

at least one of said plurality of permanent magnets has a side which is angled from said stator core towards said shaft.